FRENCH AIR LINER NOW EIGHT DAYS ALOFT

LAST WIRELESS MESSAGES PICKED UP ON SATURDAY

RATIONS OF DIXMUDE GAVE OUT 4 DAYS AGO, FUEL EXHAUSTED SATURDAY

WHIPPED ABOUT AS PLAYTHING OF FIERCE MEDITERRANEAN STORMS

(By United Press)
Paris, Dec. 26.—Hope for the missing French air liner Dixmude was virtually abandoned today by the ministry of marines. The most that remains to officials is the hope that the Dixmude crew or part of it may escape alive.

Nothing definite has been heard from the Dixmude which has been gone from her base for more than eight days since wireless messages from the airship were picked up on Saturday.

The Dixmude's rations gave out four days ago; her fuel consisting of 19 tons of gasoline, was exhausted last Saturday; caught in the grip of terrific Mediterranean storms, she drifted in a naerial prison unable to land or make headway toward her base.

When last seen the Dixmude was over the Gulf of Gabes, being blown to sea off the Tunis coast.

Since that time, however, the winds which have been making the Dixmude its plaything, was drifting helpless inland. Cavalry and garrisons throughout Tunis and Algiers were ordered out today by the French war department for a search. The troops were ordered to pass the word along to the natives in order, who would spread it rapidly from mouth to mouth, because the Dixmude is regarded as a supernatural monster by the tribes of northern Africa.

Christmas day, however, brought reports that various stations in Tunis had seen the airship's searchlight in the sky at night but as these were sometimes reported pointing in one direction and again in another and were not otherwise identified as belonging to the Dixmude, the ministry of marines now doubts if it was the Dixmude which was seen. Moreover, the times and positions reported do not check with the winds.

Technical advisors in the aeronautic department of the French navy, declared it an impossibility for the Dixmude to remain aloft unprovisioned for a week. They believe the airship landed some days ago; if in the sea with the loss of all lives, if in the desert or the rough hills of northern Africa perhaps with some lives saved.

Despair for the air liner's safety grew today as the time she had been away from her home base lengthened to 200 hours. The Dixmude carried food for approximately 60 hours with emergency rations that would carry her through another day or so, but the water supply must have been exhausted earlier.

Cavalry raked the plains and hills of southern Tunis today, squadrons of airplanes went aloft into the air that held the Dixmude prisoner, searching for the missing giant ship.

Commandant LaFarge commanding in Tunis expressed the belief that the Dixmude had sought shelter behind the Atlas mountains in the Sahara desert and was waiting for favorable winds to bring her back to France.

The Tunisian commander insisted the Dixmude had not sent out distress signals and if it had collapsed in the desert, news certainly would have arrived by the natives.

This announcement of the Dixmude that it had not sent out distress signals perplexes navy aviation experts. Pointing out that the airship being built of duralium was extremely light and might float for some days if it fell into the sea.

The ministry of marines today reiterated the announcement that the Dixmude carried parachutes and expressed inability to comprehend why the ship's young commander had not ordered some member of the crew to drop overboard with messages if the

VENIZELOS TO HEED CALL OF GREECE; RETURNS TO ATHENS

(By United Press)
Paris, Dec. 26.—Ex-premier Venizelos will return to Greece in answer to the note of his countrymen.

However, the veteran statesman will discuss the political turmoil in his native land with a delegation from Athens.

Venizelos is considering suggesting a plebiscite to determine whether Greece shall be a republic or monarchy. He will leave for Athens Friday.

CELEBRATIONS FOLLOW ANNOUNCEMENT MADE

Athens, Dec. 26.—Celebrations throughout Greece followed announcement of Venizelos' impending return.

The former premier's hesitation, fostered by fears of his bride, is believed to have been overcome by an urgent cable invitation signed by 300 deputies.

CHEST CRUSHED IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Dec. 26.—George Bowl, 32, died early today after an automobile crash Christmas eve. He was found in his overturned car, his chest crushed by the steering wheel. Police said a bottle of liquor was found nearby.

WIND AND RAIN STORM, WEST COAST

8 KILLED, SCORES INJURED IN THE PUGET SOUND DISTRICT

(By United Press)
Seattle, Dec. 26.—Nine persons were killed and scores injured in the wind and rain storm which wrecked Puget Sound districts. Seven lives were lost in the foundering of vessels, four of them when the Canadian tug Tyee went to the bottom of Peddler Bay Christmas eve. Two men were drowned when their open boat capsized. A fisherman was drowned near Aberdeen and two men were killed in Seattle by falling trees.

The storm came up the "night before Christmas" and raged from Aberdeen to Seattle, at one time cutting Aberdeen, Tacoma and Seattle off from all outside communication.

Dixmude actually passed over or near towns as reported.

REDOUBLE EFFORTS TO FIND DIXMUDE

Paris, Dec. 26.—By camel couriers, by cavalry and by French airplanes, French military and naval authorities redoubled their efforts to find the naval dirigible Dixmude, lost in northeastern Africa.

MYSTERIOUS CRAFT GIVING S. O. S. CALL

New York, Dec. 26.—Nothing more has been heard today from the mysterious radio distress signal first heard last night, which started a stir along the Atlantic coast for over half an hour.

The order to stop broadcasting was issued by Carlton Teece in command of the New York station of naval communication after a telephone message to the headquarters of the feeble S. O. S. call. Besides the unknown person who telephoned him from Philadelphia, Teece said the operator at the navy yard here had also picked up the call.

Several U. S. destroyers, coast guard ships and others were ready in harbors here to make for the vessel as soon as it could be located.

JAPAN PROTESTS AGAINST THE ANTI-ALIEN LAND LAWS

STEP FOLLOWS CLOSELY RECENT DECISIONS OF THE U. S. SUPREME COURT

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT HAS NOT YET REPLIED TO THE JAPANESE NOTE

(By United Press)
Washington, Dec. 26.—Japan has made formal presentation to the United States amounting to a protest against the anti-alien land laws of California and other western states, it was learned on reliable authority here today.

The protest, it is understood, was made in a communication to the state department by Ambassador Hani Hara, the Japanese envoy in Washington.

This step by Japan follows closely upon the recent decisions of the United States supreme court confirming the constitutionality of the western laws barring the Japanese from holding land in any way in these states for agricultural purposes. The Japanese communication is not understood to protest against the opinions of the supreme court itself, but its objection to the situation that has resulted from the court's decisions.

The protest from Japan, according to the views in some quarters, were the natural consequence and climax to the long history of the western anti-alien land legislation as the diplomatic correspondence that previously has passed between the United States and Japan on this subject which foreshadowed such a step as the present note from Tokyo.

The American government has not replied to the Japanese note but it is expected to do so in the near future.

SOUTHERN STATES OIL INVESTIGATED

(By United Press)
New York, Dec. 26.—Trading was halted in the stock of the Southern States oil corporation on the New York curb market today.

The company is sponsored by former Governor C. N. Haskell of Oklahoma.

State oil stocks with which Haskell is identified immediately broke heavy.

The committee on business conducts of the New York stock exchange began investigating transactions of stock exchange houses in Southern States oil.

Failure of Richards, Hutchison and Company, curb brokers, who carried a considerable line of Southern States oil for certain customers, was announced shortly afterward.

VETERAN RAILROAD SURGEON DIED

(By United Press)
St. Paul, Dec. 26.—Dr. James A. Quinn of St. Paul, veteran railroad surgeon, died in his apartment here early today. He is 68 years old.

He had been ill for about a year and previously had spent most of his winters in Florida because of his health. Having lived in Minnesota most of his life, Dr. Quinn was conversant with industrial and agricultural development of the northwest and for 25 years has devoted much time to a small farm near the University of Minnesota. He was intensely interested in horticulture experiments and did much toward the progress of the University farm.

SCATHING ATTACK ON COOLIDGE'S PLAN OF AGRICULTURAL AID

(By United Press)
Washington, Dec. 26.—Western farmers, irrespective of party lines, are "through with Coolidge and strong for McAdoo for the presidency," Senator Wheeler of Montana declared today in a scathing attack on the president's agricultural relief idea.

So far as the farming west is concerned, Wheeler said, Coolidge's ideas are "archaic" and "antediluvian." The president's message, he said, shows that he does not understand the distressing plight of the farmers west of the Mississippi.

"Out in my country they all favor the Norris-Sinclair bill or an exporting corporation of agricultural products organized by the government."

The west, Wheeler said, is preparing to send men of the Magnus Johnson type to congress, not "milk sops."

MURDERER OF FIVE EXHUMED AND BODY BURNED IN HOUSE

MYSTERY SURROUNDS ULTIMATE DISPOSAL OF CORPSE OF JOHN SNOW

JEFFERSON, MAINE, MAN HAD KILLED 3 OF FAMILY AND DEPUTY AND WIFE

(By United Press)
Jefferson, Me., Dec. 26.—Investigation of the exhuming and burning of the body of John Snow, murderer of five persons who killed himself after the crime, was under way here today by authorities who admitted they were making little progress.

Snow's body was taken from its grave early Christmas day, dragged to the murder cottage and burned with the house.

Authorities have found nobody who will talk about the affair. Inhabitants of the neighborhood said they saw the house burning but had no idea the body of the murderer had been exhumed until the open grave was found several hours later.

Examination of the ruins revealed the charred corpse. The coffin had been opened at one end and the body dragged through the snow to the cottage.

County Attorney Weston Hilton in charge of the investigation, said he found all the villagers reticent and had made no progress.

Snow killed his wife, her grandmother and her aunt in the cottage and then shot himself. Previously he had killed the wife and son of a deputy sheriff.

McMillan Gets Radio Greeting

Chicago, Dec. 26.—Donald McMillan, frozen in the ice fastnesses 11 degrees from the North Pole, early yesterday received a Christmas greeting from his sister, Mrs. Lillian Fogg of Freeport, Maine, who came to Chicago to talk to the Arctic explorer. Messages from McMillan sent in the telegraphic code to the broadcasting station acknowledged the greeting.

SAYS RUSSIA DOES NOT WISH TO SPREAD PROPAGANDA IN U. S.

(By United Press)
Moscow, Dec. 26.—Russia has absolutely no intention of spreading propaganda in the United States, Soviet Foreign Minister Tchitcherin told the United Press today.

Tchitcherin explained Russia's attitude toward the dispute.

SENATOR BORAH CHALLENGES STATEMENTS

Washington, Dec. 26.—Secretary Hughes' interpretation of documentary evidence in the possession of the state department dealing on the relationship between the Soviet government and the communist internationale were sharply challenged here today by senate advocates of Russian recognition.

Senator Borah, Idaho, leader of the fight to force a thorough study of the Russian question by the senate, said in a statement that Mr. Hughes and the state department have been imposed upon.

Senator Wheeler, Montana, announced he would introduce a resolution in the senate when it re-convenes calling on the state department and the department of justice to transmit all their Russian evidence to the senate.

"There departments," he said, "should produce their evidence and let the senate determine for itself the facts and see if the charges made will stand the test of the light of day."

STATE IRON MINES HAVE RECORD YEAR

WHOLE OUTPUT, PUBLIC AND PRIVATELY OWNED, NEARLY 42,000,000 TONS

St. Paul, Dec. 26.—Iron ore tonnage produced from the state owned mines in 1923 was greater than that of any other year, Ray P. Chase, state auditor, said today. A total of 7,647,000 tons of ore, 2,000,000 more than the former peak year of 1920, were taken from the state owned mines in 1923. The leaseholders pay the state 25 cents a ton royalty on all this ore.

The state owned mines are situated on school, university or swamp lands, and the incomes go into permanent trust funds of the state.

The most productive state owned mine is Missabe mountain, from which nearly 4,000,000 tons were taken. The Hill annex produced 1,279,000 tons.

The total shipments of iron ore from Minnesota this year, including outputs of state owned and privately owned mines, will total close to 42,000,000 tons. Minnesota normally produces 60 per cent of the iron ore mined in the country.

WATSON CLIMBS ON COOLIDGE BAND WAGON

(Copyright 1923 by United Press)
Washington, Dec. 26.—Senator Jim Watson of Indiana is getting ready to climb aboard the Coolidge presidential ship, according to intimations the Coolidge headquarters here claim to have received.

Although a few weeks ago a potential rival of Mr. Coolidge for the 1924 nomination, he has given up his idea of running for the presidency but would not spurn the nomination for vice-president, some of his friends say.

Mr. Coolidge's message to congress shattered Watson's presidential aspirations. It made the president undisputed leader of the conservative wing of the party.

When Watson some weeks ago indicated he was considering being a candidate he made it plain there was some doubt that Mr. Coolidge was to prove adequate to lead the conservatives of which Watson is a whole-hearted leader.

SAMUEL GOMPERS OF GERMANY IN U. P. INTERVIEW

THOSE WORKING PAID LESS THAN IN PRE-WAR TIMES, WITH PRICES HIGHER

GERMAN LABOR UNIONS WILL FIGHT INDUSTRIALISTS TO BITTER END

CARL D. GROAT

(Copyright 1923 by United Press)
Berlin, Dec. 26.—There are today at least 3,250,000 totally unemployed workers in Germany and 2,000,000 others who are on short time, Theodore Leipart, the Samuel Gompers of Germany, told the United Press in an interview.

Moreover, Leipart pointed out, those who are fortunate enough to have work, are paid less than in pre-war times while prices are at least one-half more than 1913.

Leipart, who is undisputed leader of organized labor in Germany, warned that certain industrialists are exploiting the workers unemployed in an endeavor to suppress wages further. This will eventually effect several of the workers in other lands for employers will say to their men, "We too must reduce because Germany's low wages create serious competition."

German labor unions will fight the industrialists to the bitter end.

Nineteen per cent of all German workers are idle with 47 per cent on short time, according to figures which make it appear that less than one-third of the country's man power has full employment.

Christmas Shooting Affrays Prove Deadly

(By United Press)
Hazard, Ky., Dec. 6.—Four men were killed and two wounded in three Christmas shooting affrays in this vicinity.

William Smith, deputy sheriff, was killed and Dennis Phillips seriously wounded when Phillips resisted arrest on disorderly conduct.

Three other deputies, John Smith, James DeWitt and J. D. Davidson going to the scene of Deputy Smith's death, mistook the explosion of a firecracker for a shot and opened fire on Jerry Dunn's store at Karles. A bullet from Smith's gun fatally wounded Dunn and killed J. D. Mathews and Harry Hayes. Mathews carried a bank book on the First National Bank of LeGoote, Indiana. He had no relatives here.

ALLIGATOR CHEWED KEEPER'S LEG OFF

New York, Dec. 26.—Attacked by a huge, man-eating alligator in the Prospect Park zoo, Brooklyn, today, state keeper John O'Brien was rescued after his left leg had been nearly chewed off by the creature.

News reel photographers gathered to film the presentation of the alligator to the zoo and kept grinding away at their cameras getting motion pictures of the battle.

William Ostrander, assistant keeper, leaped on the reptile's back and exerted tremendous strength in forcing open the jaws with his hands, rescuing O'Brien out of his predicament. Ostrander then hurled the alligator into a pool with a score of its fellows.

Omaha, Neb., Dec. 26.—As a mark of respect for the four air mail pilots killed during the past year, transcontinental air mail service will be discontinued today for one week, according to Superintendent D. H. Colyer.

SAYS RUSSIA DOES NOT WISH TO SPREAD PROPAGANDA IN U. S.

(By United Press)
Moscow, Dec. 26.—Russia has absolutely no intention of spreading propaganda in the United States, Soviet Foreign Minister Tchitcherin told the United Press today.

Tchitcherin explained Russia's attitude toward the dispute.

SENATOR BORAH CHALLENGES STATEMENTS

Washington, Dec. 26.—Secretary Hughes' interpretation of documentary evidence in the possession of the state department dealing on the relationship between the Soviet government and the communist internationale were sharply challenged here today by senate advocates of Russian recognition.

Senator Borah, Idaho, leader of the fight to force a thorough study of the Russian question by the senate, said in a statement that Mr. Hughes and the state department have been imposed upon.

Senator Wheeler, Montana, announced he would introduce a resolution in the senate when it re-convenes calling on the state department and the department of justice to transmit all their Russian evidence to the senate.

"There departments," he said, "should produce their evidence and let the senate determine for itself the facts and see if the charges made will stand the test of the light of day."

STATE IRON MINES HAVE RECORD YEAR

WHOLE OUTPUT, PUBLIC AND PRIVATELY OWNED, NEARLY 42,000,000 TONS

St. Paul, Dec. 26.—Iron ore tonnage produced from the state owned mines in 1923 was greater than that of any other year, Ray P. Chase, state auditor, said today. A total of 7,647,000 tons of ore, 2,000,000 more than the former peak year of 1920, were taken from the state owned mines in 1923. The leaseholders pay the state 25 cents a ton royalty on all this ore.

The state owned mines are situated on school, university or swamp lands, and the incomes go into permanent trust funds of the state.

The most productive state owned mine is Missabe mountain, from which nearly 4,000,000 tons were taken. The Hill annex produced 1,279,000 tons.

The total shipments of iron ore from Minnesota this year, including outputs of state owned and privately owned mines, will total close to 42,000,000 tons. Minnesota normally produces 60 per cent of the iron ore mined in the country.

WATSON CLIMBS ON COOLIDGE BAND WAGON

LAWRENCE MARTIN

(Copyright 1923 by United Press)
Washington, Dec. 26.—Senator Jim Watson of Indiana is getting ready to climb aboard the Coolidge presidential ship, according to intimations the Coolidge headquarters here claim to have received.

Although a few weeks ago a potential rival of Mr. Coolidge for the 1924 nomination, he has given up his idea of running for the presidency but would not spurn the nomination for vice-president, some of his friends say.

Mr. Coolidge's message to congress shattered Watson's presidential aspirations. It made the president undisputed leader of the conservative wing of the party.

When Watson some weeks ago indicated he was considering being a candidate he made it plain there was some doubt that Mr. Coolidge was to prove adequate to lead the conservatives of which Watson is a whole-hearted leader.

SAMUEL GOMPERS OF GERMANY IN U. P. INTERVIEW

THOSE WORKING PAID LESS THAN IN PRE-WAR TIMES, WITH PRICES HIGHER

GERMAN LABOR UNIONS WILL FIGHT INDUSTRIALISTS TO BITTER END

CARL D. GROAT

(Copyright 1923 by United Press)
Berlin, Dec. 26.—There are today at least 3,250,000 totally unemployed workers in Germany and 2,000,000 others who are on short time, Theodore Leipart, the Samuel Gompers of Germany, told the United Press in an interview.

Moreover, Leipart pointed out, those who are fortunate enough to have work, are paid less than in pre-war times while prices are at least one-half more than 1913.

Leipart, who is undisputed leader of organized labor in Germany, warned that certain industrialists are exploiting the workers unemployed in an endeavor to suppress wages further. This will eventually effect several of the workers in other lands for employers will say to their men, "We too must reduce because Germany's low wages create serious competition."

German labor unions will fight the industrialists to the bitter end.

Nineteen per cent of all German workers are idle with 47 per cent on short time, according to figures which make it appear that less than one-third of the country's man power has full employment.

Christmas Shooting Affrays Prove Deadly

(By United Press)

Hazard, Ky., Dec. 6.—Four men were killed and two wounded in three Christmas shooting affrays in this vicinity.

William Smith, deputy sheriff, was killed and Dennis Phillips seriously wounded when Phillips resisted arrest on disorderly conduct.

Three other deputies, John Smith, James DeWitt and J. D. Davidson going to the scene of Deputy Smith's death, mistook the explosion of a firecracker for a shot and opened fire on Jerry Dunn's store at Karles. A bullet from Smith's gun fatally wounded Dunn and killed J. D. Mathews and Harry Hayes. Mathews carried a bank book on the First National Bank of LeGoot, Indiana. He had no relatives here.

ALLIGATOR CHEWED KEEPER'S LEG OFF

New York, Dec. 26.—Attacked by a huge, man-eating alligator in the Prospect Park zoo, Brooklyn, today, state keeper John O'Brien was rescued after his left leg had been nearly chewed off by the creature.

News reel photographers gathered to film the presentation of the alligator to the zoo and kept grinding away at their cameras getting motion pictures of the battle.

William Ostrander, assistant keeper, leaped on the reptile's back and exerted tremendous strength in forcing open the jaws with his hands, rescuing O'Brien out of his predicament. Ostrander then hurled the alligator into a pool with a score of its fellows.

Wasted Breath

A Texas attorney was delivering a Fourth of July address. He had held forth prosily for nearly an hour, apparently without getting anywhere. At length he stopped, and then said in impressive tones: "I pause to ask myself a question."

A voice from back of the hall shouted: "Better not. You'll only get a fool answer."—The Lawyer and Banker.

Anderson-Larson
Miss Nana T. Larson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter M. Larson, was united in marriage at 4 o'clock Christmas afternoon to Henry D. Anderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. August Samuelson of the Clara Lutheran church, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lyons, 805 South Seventh street, Mr. and Mrs. Lyons being the witnesses.

The bride is very well and favorably known in the city. She has been employed for several years as clerk at the E. H. Jones dry goods store. The groom, familiarly known as "Hank" Anderson, has lived in Brainerd for many years. He was formerly associated with T. J. Walsu in the Billiard parlors. He is now connected with the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co., with headquarters at Thief River Falls, where the newlyweds will make their home. 2 KILLED, 2 HURT IN CAR-TRAIN COLLISION

(By United Press)
Chicago, Dec. 26.—Two persons were killed and two were perhaps fatally hurt when their automobile was demolished by an Illinois Central suburban train here last night. The dead are Dr. F. R. Butterfield and Mrs. Ann Schoemaker. The injured are James H. Rowley and his wife who is Mrs. Schoemaker's daughter. The accident occurred at an unguarded grade crossing. The train sped to Chicago with Christmas merry makers, dragging the car three hundred feet.

One Way Out
An Englishwoman member of Parliament, Mrs. Winttingham, tells a story concerning a man at a Coalition meeting who applauded heartily the speaker of the evening for better part of an hour. Then suddenly he started interrupting. "What did Mr. Asquith say in 1910?" he demanded in strident tones. "Shut up! Chuck him out!" cried the audience, angrily. But the interrupter, nothing daunted, continued to ask loudly, over and over again, what Mr. Asquith had said in 1910. Eventually two stalwart stewards removed the offender. The following morning two fellow townsmen, friends of his, sought him out and asked for an explanation of his strange behavior. "We thought you were a Coalitionist." "So I am!" he replied. "Then what on earth made you interrupt a Coalitionist meeting?" asked one of his friends. "Well," came the reply, "I'd a terrific thirst on me and I was so wedged in that I couldn't move, and as it was getting so dangerously close to closing time, I had to jolly well get thrown out or go without a drink."—Vancouver Daily Province.

Cattle Lice Are Very Expensive as Boarders

Coal Tar Dips and Sprays Used With Success.

Why spend money on valuable cattle feed to nourish lice?

During this season of the year, according to Prof. J. W. Bartlett, animal husbandman of the New Jersey Agricultural college, cattle are often affected with lice, young stock being most susceptible, though milk cows are not exempt. The so-called "Blue Louse" is the one commonly found. Being a blood-sucking and not a biting insect, it not only hinders growth and prevents thriftiness, but causes a mange and loss of hair.

At such a time as this it is very expensive to waste any feed, and when one considers the amount of food material that these insects must consume through the blood, it is easily seen how greatly they increase the cost of milk production.

Coal-tar dips and sprays may be used with success, but where there are not too many animals affected, kerosene and lard mixed according to the following formula will serve the purpose.

Mix half pint of kerosene warmed in hot water with one pound of melted lard and apply along the animal's back and neck. If the hair is long the back of the animal should be clipped.

Another means of eradicating lice is by the Kentucky-Black Leaf 40 method. The following formula is recommended:

1 pint Black Leaf 40 to 86 gallons of water, or 1/2 pint Black Leaf 40 to 43 gallons of water, or 1/4 pint Black Leaf 40 to 21 gallons of water.

Apply with brush along back and neck.

Wintering Bees Offers Quite Serious Problem

Bees require very little work and could be profitably kept on many more farms than is now the case. Over the northern half of the cornbelt, however, wintering bees offers quite a problem. Studies made in Wisconsin have divided winter care into three periods, the first extending from September 1 to November 20; the second from November 20 to March 21, and the third from March 21 until May 15.

In the first period make sure that each colony has a queen not more than two years old, whose maximum egg-laying period has not been reached. Provide plenty of stores and allow the bees to make their own brood nest. Feeding should be done before cold nights prevail. Hives must be protected from prevailing winds.

Do not disturb bees during the second period. The cellar should be dark and have a temperature of forty-five to fifty degrees. Excessive ventilation is not desirable.

During the third period the bees are placed outdoors where they are protected from the wind. This is important. Provide every colony with some outside covering as soon as they are placed on their stands. Sufficient stores must be given. Very strong colonies need seventy-five to one hundred pounds of stores in the spring, which the beekeeper must supply if the bees cannot get it in the field. Give forty to fifty pounds as a rule. Plenty of brooding room must be furnished or early swarming is sure to result. You must choose between surplus or increase.

Clipping Stubble Fields for Keeping Down Weeds

Many farmers find clipping oats and wheat stubble a good practice for keeping down weeds. Early clipping prevents the weeds from getting a start and smothering out the young grass and clover and a later clipping will prevent any weeds that are left from going to seed and will tend to thicken the stand of grass.

Such annuals as ragweeds are propagated from the seed alone and if permitted to stand will produce an immense amount of seed which will grow after lying buried in the soil for several years.

It is often found profitable to mow weedy pastures, fence rows and uncultivated orchards to check the growth and spread of weeds.

Water Is of Importance in Production of Eggs

A standard dozen of eggs weighs a pound and a half. About two-thirds of that weight is water. Maybe it is not unfair to say that it takes more water than it does feed to produce a dozen eggs. This much is certain—a flock of hens in good production will stop more quickly if you take away the water than if you take away the feed. A lot of hens do not lay enough eggs simply because they do not get all the water they ought to drink. It takes a lot of it and during cold weather it pays to warm the water to take the chill from it.—Dr. L. E. Card, University of Illinois.

Quality Steers Respond Better to Long Feeding

Inexperienced cattle breeders should remember that plain cheap steers that have had a short feed on corn, sell about as well as good quality steers during the spring months of the year, and plain thin steers can always be purchased cheaper than quality steers. The quality steer will, however, respond better to a long feed and will sell better than the long fed plain steer.

Sweet Clover to Be Turned Under

Will Return as Much Nitrogen as Seven Tons of Manure.

Sweet clover as a green manure crop will return as much nitrogen to the soil as seven tons of mixed manure, according to a three-year trial at the Maryland experiment station. Unlike rye or other non-legume crops, this nitrogen will be largely taken from the air and is a free gift to the farmer who is wise enough to make use of it. It will also conserve soil nitrogen that becomes available during the late summer and is wasted where no green crop is grown.

Increasing numbers of farmers are seeding ten pounds of scarified and inoculated sweet clover seed with all their grain. It not only provides green manure but the first year will provide fall pasture and the second year will produce green feed where permanent pastures are brown and of little value. It improves soil conditions on the dairy farm, lowers the cost of producing milk, and increases farm profits at practically the cost of the seed used. With this in mind, why not try a seeding of sweet clover in the last cultivation of corn or with grain next spring.

Suggestions From Maryland. Following are some good suggestions from the Maryland station on the seeding and management of sweet clover:

"The soil on which the sweet clover crops were grown was well inoculated for legume. Ten pounds of hulled seed was sufficient to give a satisfactory stand. On land of low fertility and not well inoculated the seeding rate should be at least fifteen pounds of seed per acre. It is important to use only 'scarified' seed, which is hulled seed that has been passed through a machine that scratches the tough outer seed coat. This insures not only prompt but a higher germination of seeds. It is also important that the seed be covered lightly. This is best accomplished by doing the seeding with a disk grass seeder or by harrowing lightly with a smoothing harrow if the seed was distributed with a broadcasting machine.

"Sweet clover, like other legumes, makes its best growth if the proper nitrogen-fixing bacteria are present. On land where alfalfa has been grown it is not necessary to inoculate. Where the crop is planted for the first time, it is quite essential that the seed be inoculated. The inoculation may be accomplished either by the transfer of soil from a field inoculated for alfalfa or sweet clover, or by use of a pure culture. The pure culture is usually to be preferred. Although the sweet clover will grow on land too sour for alfalfa and common clover, the best results are secured on soils which are not acid. This is especially important where the crop is used for soil improvement.

Graze With Hogs.

"If the crop is to be used in part for summer pasture, hogs should be turned in for grazing as soon as the wheat is removed. They will consume much of the grain left on the field in addition to the sweet clover. From 600 to 800 pounds live weight of hogs may be grazed per acre without materially injuring the growth and stand of the clover. Cattle will not eat the green sweet clover readily, but will become accustomed to it in a few days.

"Whether the clover is to be in part grazed or all of it allowed to remain on the field until time to turn under for green manure, should be determined from the standpoint of the fertility of the soil and the need for summer grazing. Before plowing, the field should be disked thoroughly. This will cut and macerate the sweet clover plants and hasten their disintegration. The disking will mix soil with the plants and will also improve the plowing condition if the soil is rather dry. A heavy type disk, deeply set, will produce the best results. The plowing and subsequent preparation for fall-planted crops need not be different from the approved practices for fall-seeded grains."

Soy Beans Will Improve Protein Silage Content

Soy beans make an excellent quality of silage and improve the protein content of corn silage. Corn silage contains 1.1 per cent protein while silage made from soy beans contains 2.8 per cent. In 30 lbs. of corn silage there is .33 lb. digestible protein, while in 30 lbs. of soy bean silage there is .84 lb., or there is a half pound more protein in 30 lbs. of soy bean silage than there is in 30 lbs. of corn silage. In one pound of oil meal there is .33 lb. of digestible protein. If the silage were made entirely from soy beans, the extra amount of protein in 30 lbs., as compared with 30 lbs. of corn silage, would be equivalent to about 1 1/2 lbs. of oil meal.

Community Campaign to Eradicate Chinch Bugs

Wherever the chinch bug was abundant during the past summer, 98 per cent of them will be found hibernating in the bunch grass and bluestem in meadows, pastures, ravines and along roadsides. The burning over of these places will result in the destruction of practically all of the bugs, and when the community co-operates in such a campaign it eliminates the necessity of fighting the chinch bug the following year.

Pure Bred Gilts to Improve Hogs

Illinois Expert Says Farmers Can Well Afford to Buy at Present Prices.

Seldom have farmers had such a splendid opportunity to improve their herds of hogs, points out E. T. Robbins, of the Illinois University extension service, who suggests that at present prices farmers can well afford to buy pure bred gilts for breeding purposes, even though they do not expect to go into the pedigreed hog business.

"Pure bred gilts are selling at bargain prices," says Mr. Robbins. "One can buy them for a trifle more than the market value of grade hogs. There is the best opportunity ever presented to replace common sows with pure bred. The grade gilts can be fattened and shipped to market and the proceeds will buy nearly as many good pure bred females. In some cases, a drove of old sows can be sold and the money received will buy more than the same number of registered gilts.

Bring Top Prices.

"If the farmers generally appreciated the genuine value of pure bred hogs, such bargains would not be possible. Most of the top litters are pure bred and all the others are high grades. The hogs which secure top market prices are usually pure bred or nearly so. Pure bred are credited with being fully 40 per cent more efficient money makers than grades and scrubs, according to reports sent to the United States Department of Agriculture by hundreds of stockmen. In face of these facts, it is astounding to note any indifference to pure bred on the part of farmers.

"Even though one does not plan to engage in pedigree breeding, an investment in pure bred females at present prices will pay handsomely. In the last three years, many hard-headed, experienced pork producers have bought pure bred sows and gilts, and turned them out to raise pigs for the stockyards market. They merely regarded the pedigrees as a guarantee of inherited excellence, and made no further use of the registry certificates. Gilts were bought at $10 to $25 per head more than the price of grades, and handled in this way.

Period of Depression.

"The hog business is passing through a period of depression. A revival of business and higher prices has always followed in a few years. A farmer can establish a fine foundation herd now at moderate cost and be ready to reap profits by the sale of the offspring in years to come. This is a much wiser policy than buying pure bred at the crest of a boom and then in disgust shipping the offspring onto the stockyards market in a time of depression such as the present."

Satisfactory Scheme to Destroy Stomach Worms

Perhaps the most satisfactory way of eliminating stomach worms is to give the horse twice daily with his grain feed a heaping tablespoon of a mixture consisting of equal parts of powdered gentian and ferrous sulphate. Continue this treatment for five or six days. At the end of this period purge the horse, either by means of a physic ball, which you can obtain from your veterinarian, or give him a bran mash and some legume hay without the usual allowance of grain. If this treatment fails to produce the desired results during the first period, repeat it after an interval of three or four days. Give the horse a comfortable bed, and do not permit him to eat too much hay.

A grain ration consisting of five parts of oats, two parts of cornmeal with a sprinkling of linseed meal, two parts of bran, makes a useful mixture for horses. The grain should be decreased on idle days and increased on working days.

Diversified Farm Gives Profitable Employment

The one crop wheat farm furnishes profitable employment for only 60 to 100 days out of the year, or not more than one-third of the time. The returns are less than a third of a year's wages. The well-diversified farm having two or three kinds of live stock with wheat as a cash crop and other crops to supply feed, furnishes profitable employment every day in the year and returns a good year's pay.

Removing Scrub Trees to Increase Production

The season for taking out scrub trees from the wood-lot is at hand. These trees can be worked up into wood, or other timber products, of value for home use or for marketing, and at the same time their removal will leave the wood-lot where production will actually be increased in the years to come. In other words, here is a situation where one can eat his cake and have it, too.

At the end of this period purge the horse, either by means of a physic ball, which you can obtain from your veterinarian, or give him a bran mash and some legume hay without the usual allowance of grain. If this treatment fails to produce the desired results during the first period, repeat it after an interval of three or four days. Give the horse a comfortable bed, and do not permit him to eat too much hay.

A grain ration consisting of five parts of oats, two parts of cornmeal with a sprinkling of linseed meal, two parts of bran, makes a useful mixture for horses. The grain should be decreased on idle days and increased on working days.

Diversified Farm Gives Profitable Employment

The one crop wheat farm furnishes profitable employment for only 60 to 100 days out of the year, or not more than one-third of the time. The returns are less than a third of a year's wages. The well-diversified farm having two or three kinds of live stock with wheat as a cash crop and other crops to supply feed, furnishes profitable employment every day in the year and returns a good year's pay.

Removing Scrub Trees to Increase Production

The season for taking out scrub trees from the wood-lot is at hand. These trees can be worked up into wood, or other timber products, of value for home use or for marketing, and at the same time their removal will leave the wood-lot where production will actually be increased in the years to come. In other words, here is a situation where one can eat his cake and have it too.

COL. C. D. JOHNSON'S PHILOSOPHY

COL. C. D. JOHNSON'S Christmas greetings took the form of trite extracts from the philosophy which the colonel expounds to willing and unwilling audiences. The booklet has the colonel's beaming countenance stamped on the front cover. Then come Christmas verses of beautiful import, followed by the philosophy.

The first effusion states why the colonel is a democrat. This may be glossed over by the republicans and farmer-labor people as the colonel says the democrats are of the elect, they have passports to the kingdom of heaven.

We are with the colonel when he penned the following ringing words:

"On this Christmas day, let us all unite in a common purpose—that of uplifting the fallen, soften the sorrow, and smooth the pathway of our fellow-man; and by that practice inspire a lesson in the lives of all men that will broaden their vision to a realization of the universality of helping one another among all men."

"The man who speaks his positive convictions is worth a regiment of men who are always proclaiming their doubts and suspicions." This declaration of independence may go all right on the outside, but a fellow better not brag about this when his wife is around. She may cause a reversal of some of these rock-ribbed declarations.

This glowing tribute is paid the city of Brainerd: "We are proud of our city. We are a cosmopolitan people, we recognize no caste; it is here that the banker breaks bread with the street sweeper and everybody touches elbows with each other; yes, we are justly proud of Brainerd, sitting so queen-like at the very gateway of our 10,000 lakes. God Almighty has graciously endowed us with a beautiful location, high and dry on the banks of the mighty Mississippi river. We need have no fear of an overflow from the river; and the 18th amendment has cut off the inflow."

The concluding pages take up an address the colonel delivered at the Minnesota State Pharmaceutical association, and reported in the "Northwest Druggist." It is said the reporter of that speech has suffered from amnesia and asphasia ever since. "He's not the man he once was," said all the reporter's fellow newspaper men.

The colonel trotted out an array of polysyllabled wurruds in solid phalanxes in explaining what "Pharmacy" is.

"Now, what is Pharmacy?" said the colonel as he viewed his expectant audience. And they got a definition which electrified them as the colonel said in stentorian tones:

"Pharmacy is the elementary element of the fundamental fundaments as applied to the accretive refrigeration in contamination with the unsubstantial apothecary, vast in its congestion and supplementary to the antimonial circumambience as indemnified in festivities of the pertinacity of the ostentatious delirium tremens." This is only one of many paragraphs of the discourse.

THAT DISCUSSION OF DOCTRINES

THAT discussion of doctrinal differences which has seen mention in the newspapers comes at a most inopportune time. One is saddened by the prominence given heresy trials and heated debates between various schools of thought in the presence of all humanity's distress and need.

If the time spent in the debate were computed in dollars and cents, plus the other expenses of light, heat and rentals, plus anything else spent in providing for the arguments, had been devoted to giving Christmas cheer to the unfortunates who do not know dogma from cant, a forward step would have been taken in practical Christianity.

The world is weary of hair-splitting arguments. It is weary of trite phrases, of comely platitudes, of words and words, what it wants is the exemplification of the Golden Rule. Actions speak louder than words.

RIN IN DISPATCH CHANNEL

ON December 15 the Brainerd Dispatch reviewed the Santa Claus symposium published in Collier's. On December 23 the Minneapolis Journal got busy and reviewed the article. The conclusion reached by all hands except Shaw and Mencken is to let Santa Claus live. Somebody wire Santa.

MANY a man thinks a dress designer is a spectacled old lady with shears and patterns and geometric designs, a very forbidding personage. One of the most widely known designers is Miss Caroline Nunder of New York City, drawing $50,000 a year from her work. She is radiantly pretty, has bobbed hair and large beautiful hazel eyes. Every frock she designs she wears, usually at the theatre. It is said she never wears the same one twice.

IT's natural for everyone to be up the air a few minutes at some time or another, but the plight of the French air crew, eight days up and no way to get down, except jumping, and grub and water running out as the old dirigible is winging its way over the ocean, is a pitiable one. And the question of relief is also a difficult one, unless the dirigible can be shot to pieces and the survivors picked up from the sea.

A NOVEL way of getting to Chippewa Falls was recently utilized by Ed Girard, farmer living near Brainerd. Ed figured out bus schedules and motored from Brainerd to Minneapolis. There he again traveled by bus to Eau Claire, Wis. From there, said Ed, he traveled on the street car for 12 cents and journeyed to his destination, Chippewa Falls. It took all day to make trip and connections.

THE annual meeting of the Crow Wing County Council Boy Scouts of America is a most important one and should be attended by all members. It will be held Thursday evening at 7:45 o'clock in the offices of the Scout Executive, E. W. Stimble, at the court house. His annual report will be made public at that time.

IT was a Christmas without the white blanket of snow that is traditional of the season.

The Spider.

We gave some perfunctory admiration to the landscape, which is indeed only beautiful to those who admire land, and to them perhaps the most beautiful in England. For here is the body of the great chalk spider who straddles over our island—whose legs are the south downs and the north downs and the Chilterns, and the tips of whose toes poke out at Cromer and Dover. He is a clean creature, who grows as few trees as he can, and those few in tidy clumps, and he loves to be tickled by quickly flowing streams. He is pimpled all over with earthworks, for from the beginning of time men have fought for the privilege of standing on him, and the oldest of our temples is built upon his back.—E. M. Forster, in "The Celestial Omnibus."

SAYS KIDNEYS CLOG
AND NEED FLUSHING

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Advt.

BAKED MACARONI

1 1/2 package macaroni, broken in pieces
1 teaspoon salt
1 quart boiling water
1/2 cup grated cheese
1 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet
Milk Butter

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender, drain and blot with cold water. Place one third the cooked macaroni in buttered baking dish, dot with butter and sprinkle with grated cheese, then more macaroni, butter and cheese until dish is full. Add Kitchen Bouquet to milk and pour this over the macaroni to moisten cover, then sprinkle thickly with cheese. Bake in medium hot oven a half hour, until nicely browned and serve immediately for dinner.

BAKED MACARONI

14 package macaroni, broken in pieces
1 teaspoon salt
2 quarts boiling water
1/2 cup grated cheese
1 teaspoon Kitchen Bouquet
Milk Butter

Cook macaroni in boiling salted water until tender, drain and blanch with cold water. Place one-third the cooked macaroni in buttered baking dish, dot with butter and sprinkle with grated cheese. Then add macaroni, butter and cheese until dish is full. Add Kitchen Bouquet to milk and pour this over the macaroni to nearly cover. Bake in medium oven a half hour, until nicely browned and serve immediately for dinner.

QUIET CHRISTMAS BUT HAPPY ONE

Family Firesides Merry With Reunions, Students Home For Holidays

CHRISTMAS SERMONS PREACHED

Midnight Service at St. Francis Church, Julotta Services in Several Churches

Brairerd celebrated a quiet, but apparently a very happy Christmas this year. Young people attending schools and colleges elsewhere are spending the holidays with home folks, and the family firesides were merry with the reunions.

The only public observances of Christmas were in the several churches, where special yuletide services were held. The first of these was the midnight mass at St. Francis Catholic church. Millard's festival mass and the Adeste Fideles were rendered by a special choir and orchestra. The solo parts were taken by Mrs. Mal Clark, Mrs. J. H. Krekelberg, Mrs. I. J. Zigan, and A. C. Mraz, with Mrs. J. P. Early at the organ, Miss Geraldine Kiebler as violinist and William Graham cornetist. During communion Mrs. Clark sang, "Holy Night."

Rev. Father Hogan preached a beautiful sermon on the nativity. Other Christmas masses were held on Christmas morning at 7, 8 and 9 o'clock. At the latter service, the children's choir under the direction of the sisters of St. Francis school sang the mass.

"Julotta" services were held at Clara Lutheran church at 5:30 o'clock Christmas morning and at the Swedish Bethany church at 6 o'clock. Immediately following the service at the former church, the choir gave a special song service to the patients at Northwestern hospital. The Swedish Baptist church observed Christmas with a special program at 6 o'clock Christmas morning. The Bethlehem Lutheran congregation held its program at 10:30 o'clock.

This evening there will be a Christmas tree and entertainment of St. Paul's Episcopal Sunday School, at 7:30 o'clock to which all are invited. It is hoped that all children and parents of the Sunday school will be present.

Rev. O. S. Winther, of the Bethlehem Lutheran church announces that there will be a children's Christmas program this evening at that church to which all are invited. A similar program at 7 o'clock is scheduled for the Swedish Bethany church.

On Christmas eve, St. Paul's Episcopal church observed the season with a special Christmas service and communion, which was well attended. The service was very impressive, since it conveyed the special Christmas significance.

There was special music by the choir and a solo by Mrs. E. J. Egan, accompanied by Mrs. Walter F. Wieland. Rev. W. M. Walton preached a strong sermon on the subject "Christmas for an Unsettled World."

MRS. ALICE BURNS DIED

Former Resident of Brainerd Passed Away in Duluth Monday

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. Alice Burns, a former resident of Brainerd, which occurred Monday morning in Duluth. Mrs. Burns was the mother of Mrs. E. J. Donahue, also a former resident of Brainerd.

The funeral was held in Duluth this morning, and interment made in that city.

A SAFE TEST

For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and backache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Pills. They are strongly recommended by Brainerd people. Ask your neighbor!

Mrs. J. R. Mutch, 618 5th St. S., Brainerd, says: "There was hardly a spot in my body that wasn't sore. When I stooped, I got severe pains in my kidneys. I couldn't stand up very long as I became tired and worn out. I had a steady, dull bearing down feeling in my kidneys and felt as though I had weights tied about them. I got little rest at night and mornings my back was so sore and stiff it seemed it would break if I stooped. Between all these ailments I became completely run down. A friend suggested Doan's Pills and I bought some at Dunn's Drug Store. Doan's gave me wonderful relief and I am glad to recommend them." 60c. at all dealers. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. SALVATION ARMY DISTRIBUTES CHEER

Fifty Worthy Poor Families Recipients of Baskets of Food to Last Three or Four Days

PUBLIC CONTRIBUTED FUNDS

Those in Charge Investigated Each Case Carefully So There Would Be No Duplication

Some fifty worthy poor families were the recipients of real Christmas cheer on Monday night, when the Salvation army distributed baskets of food, enough to last each family three or four days.

Each basket contained potatoes, beans, rice, oatmeal, sugar, bread, butter, a head of cabbage, canned goods, four pounds of meat, and either a chicken or a rabbit. In cases where the family is a large one, the above portions were doubled.

The funds for supplying these baskets were obtained by contributions made by the public, and through the generosity of local merchants, many of whom gave liberally of their merchandise.

Those in charge of the distribution of the baskets, investigated carefully each family a week before hand, so that only the worthy poor were cared for.

Every Lodge, Society and Club Entitled to One Delegate at Meeting

The Brainerd Associated Charities will hold its annual meeting and election of officers on Thursday, January 3, at 8 P. M. in the parlors of the Civic and Commerce Association.

Hilding Swanson, president, calls attention to the fact that each lodge, society, club and association in the city of Brainerd is entitled to one delegate at this meeting, with the right to cast a vote for the officers to be elected from amongst the delegates.

The president or chief of each of these organizations is therefore urged to appoint a delegate to attend Thursday evening's meeting.

"EXCHANGE CLUB"

Held Christmas Party in Offices of Telephone Company

The employees of the local telephone exchange, organized and known as "The Exchange Club," held a Christmas party in the commercial offices of the company on Saturday evening.

There were 32 present, including families of the employees and their friends. The evening was spent playing games. There was a Christmas tree which held gifts for all. The evening closed with refreshments.

The rooms were appropriately decorated for the holiday season, with holly, tinsel and evergreen boughs. All present expressed themselves as spending a most enjoyable Christmas.

M. E. Young Peoples Meeting

There will be a meeting of the Young Peoples department of the M. E. church at 8:15 tonight. All members are urged to be there as there will be election of officers.

Bethlehem Lutheran Ladies Aid

The Ladies Aid of the Bethlehem Lutheran church will meet tomorrow afternoon at the church parlors and will be entertained by Mrs. Anna Saltee and Mrs. Edgar M. Olson. A large attendance is desired.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank George A. Tracy and the Columbia Fire Underwriters Agency for which he is the local agent, for the promptness with which they settled and paid my fire loss.

Annual Gathering Tonight is One of Most Important on Club Calendar

ANNUAL ELECTION HELD

Special Committees to Report on Athletic Park, Community Chest, Etc.

One of the most important meetings of the year, in Civic and Commerce Association circles, is scheduled for tonight. This is the annual meeting, in which there will be election of officers for the coming year.

At the last regular meeting nominations for the various offices were made, two names being chosen for each, and for the seven members of the board of directors. From these nominations will be elected the officers.

President H. P. Dunn states further that there are several important committee reports which will be made at tonight's meeting. One is the special committee on an athletic park, the other a special committee on the advisability of planning a community chest.

Because of the importance of this meeting, every member is urged to be in attendance. The meeting will convene promptly 8 o'clock.

MRS. W. I. STORM DIED

Succumbed to Heart Trouble From Which She Had Been a Sufferer for Some Time

Mrs. W. I. Storm passed away at 12:30 Christmas morning at her home 416 North Ninth street, death resulting from heart trouble, from which she had been a sufferer for some little time.

Eva L. Bickery was born in Jackson County, Michigan, October 17th, 1859. She lived there until her marriage to W. I. Storm, April 10th, 1883.

Mr. and Mrs. Storm moved to Frederick, S. D. immediately after their marriage, where they resided for about twelve years. They then moved to Brainerd where they have since lived, Mr. Storm being employed as a machinist in the Northern Pacific shops.

Beside her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Miss Mary L., who lives at home, and Miss Evelyn E., a teacher in the public schools at Lead, S. D. She also has a brother residing at Chetek, Wisconsin, and a sister at Parma, Michigan.

Those who were privileged with her friendship characterize Mrs. Storm as a wonderfully refined, Christian woman, who exerted a beautiful influence upon all with whom she came in contact. Her chief interest was centered in her family, although she made a great many friends and did a great deal for others.

Mrs. Storm was a charter member of the local camp of the Royal Neighbors, and was for many years very active in this order. She held no church membership, but was always a devoted worker in the Methodist denomination.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock, from the family home, and will be private. Rev. Charles Fox Davis, former pastor of the Methodist church here, will officiate. Interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery. Friends are requested to omit flowers.

Work of Miss Mary A. McCall Calls Forth High Compliments

IS DISTINGUISHED ARTIST

Collection of Pictures is a Notable One and of Infinite Variety

On Sunday afternoon from four to six o'clock a group of friends was entertained by Miss Islay McCall at afternoon tea, followed by a private viewing of over forty pictures in oils, the work of Miss Mary A. McCall, prominent artist of St. Louis, and sister of John A. McCall. Assisting in the serving of tea and frappe was Miss Alice Johnstone. Pink carnations and narcissi were used in the dining room, which was illumined with the glow of candle light. During the evening another group viewed the pictures informally. On Wednesday and Friday of the past week guests of Miss McCall had the opportunity of seeing the pictures in the intimate surroundings of a home, in which setting they appear unusually attractive. On both evenings Miss Johnstone assisted.

The collection of pictures in a notable one, and of infinite variety. Two are of local interest. Of these, one is an interesting study of a group of silver birches near the pavilion at Lum park, while the other is the view from the rear windows of the court house, across the low land toward the Mississippi, painted in all the luxuriance of an August afternoon's sunshine. Two studies Miss McCall made of Gull lake scenes, one the shore line and view from the lake home of Dr. R. A. Beise, and another of a clump of silver birches on the property of W. A. M. Johnstone have been given the permanence of paint as interpreted by this artist, and were sold on their first exhibiting in St. Louis.

Miss McCall spent a year in Paris under M. Courtois, Prinnet and Douchet. M. Courtois is internationally known for his beautiful life sized nudes, and Prinnet and Douchet for their landscapes and figures. Later Miss McCall spent some time at Woodstock, N. Y., under John Carlsson, and with Hugh Breckenridge of the Pennsylvania Academy at Fort Washington, Pennsylvania. A few months were spent with the artist colony at Gloucester, Mass., where hundreds of artists paint during the season. A number of sea pictures are the result of a season spent in Ogunquit, Maine, which also boasts of an artist colony.

Prizes which have been awarded to Miss McCall at exhibitions of the Artists' Guild of St. Louis include first prize for portraits in oils, first prize for figure composition twice, also first prize for the best group of pictures at the Thumb Box exhibition, and many honorable mentions. A detailed review will be given of the more important pictures in the Brainerd exhibition, and an effort will be made to have them exhibited publicly before they are returned, early in January.

Card of Thanks

THE YEAR IN INTERNATIONAL SPORT

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Dec. 26.—Figuring from a broad and general viewpoint, sport made the most noticeable advances all over the world during the four seasons of 1923.

Setting aside momentarily the pace that was set in the United States, one of the outstanding features of the whole year was the arrival of South America as a formidable bidder for honors in international competition.

The Argentine had a half-share in the biggest spectacle and the biggest thrill of the year when her champion, Luis Angel Firpo, came within the proverbial inch of knocking out Jack Dempsey and winning the heavyweight championship of the world.

Hardly had Firpo been added to the list of the year's most prominent losers when South America jumped back with Luis Vincentini, the lightweight champion of Chili, who seemed certain to be headed "some place" in his class.

South America produced a swimmer who succeeded in crossing the English channel and a polo team that ranked with the best in the world.

Sufficient progress was made by the South Americans in the development of sports to indicate that at some time, not very distant, the world of sport will be dominated by North and South America.

France stepped back almost entirely out of the picture and had to be content with only the momentary glory of having a world's featherweight champion in Eugene Criqui, who lost the title in his next fight.

France, it would seem, must be satisfied in the possession of Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, world's woman tennis champion, and from all indications her reign is seriously threatened by the dashing American miss—Helen Wills.

England did not do enough to justify a statement that she had come back after three years of the most disheartening experiences, but the Britishers found some joy in that they were able to win back their open golf championship and the Diamond Sculls, although the rowing classic came back home only because Walter Hoover, the American, broke an oar in the final race.

The British polo team was defeated by the American team of Army officers; the Walker cup team was again defeated by the American team; the woman's tennis team lost the first matches for the Wightman international cup; the Wimbledon championship again stayed away from England and Billy Johnston, the California star, won the title; and the British Davis Cup team didn't get any place in the international tennis matches.

Even though it caused a laugh elsewhere, Italy found some joy in the year when the International Boxing Federation had a trick meeting and announced that Erminio Spalla, an Italian, was the European heavyweight champion.

Holland raised a row about it, but France and England merely sighed. France looked at Carpentier and Nilles, and England cast a horrified glance at Joe Beckett, and admitted that most anyone could be the champion.

Japan did not figure with the usual prominence in the Davis Cup matches because her best players could not arrange their business affairs so that they would be able to compete.

The terrible earthquake catastrophe, no doubt, will prove such a staggering blow to Japanese athletes that it will be years before the nation will be able to get back into its former place.

Finland jumped into prominence several times with the aid of that great runner, Paavo Nurmi, who threatens to be a big point winner at the Olympic games next summer in Paris.

Sweden, also, while not participating much in international competition, came along greatly in track and field athletics and, beyond doubt, will be a most formidable factor in the Olympics.

INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS HAD BIG YEAR

Keeping company with the professional sports, intercollegiate athletics had a most profitable and successful year in 1923.

The rather amazing growth of football in public during the year is of such fresh memory that it needs no repetition, but it is important, because, as football grows in interest so will grow the public patronage, and other collegiate sports will be advanced.

Football carries the freight for all other lines of collegiate athletes and when more money is available the so-called minor sports can be developed more fully.

This is particularly true in the case of baseball and rowing. College baseball is not self-supporting and there is not a cent of revenue from rowing, so that both sports have to depend upon the money obtained from football to carry them along.

Increasing attention paid by owners of professional baseball clubs to college diamonds is convincing proof of the advance being made in the class of the college game.

Such a good authority as L. E. St. John, athletic director of Ohio State University, went on record last spring that the leading universities were playing a game of baseball on a par with class A leagues of the professional circle.

John McGraw, manager of the New York Giants and Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, two of the smartest men in baseball, said recently that they preferred college players to those who were developed in the minor leagues.

Development of the college game may be due in part to the favor into which former professional stars are being looked upon by college baseball officials as coaches.

Yale won the intercollegiate baseball championship last spring and the Yale team was largely the product of Joe Wood, former Cleveland pitcher and outfielder.

Track and field athletics have grown so among the colleges that it is safe to hazard the prediction that in another eight years the United States Olympic team will be comprised almost entirely of college stars. At least 50 per cent of the team that will be sent to Paris next summer to represent the United States are expected to be college athletes.

California repeated as the intercollegiate track and field champions last spring in Philadelphia. The Californians won the title again with a team constituted almost entirely of field stars.

Another western university came into a national championship when the fine Washington crew won the intercollegiate rowing championship at Poughkeepsie.

Washington figured prominently also in the victory of Yale in the annual Harvard-Yale race at New London, as the Yale crew was developed by Ed Leader, former Washington coach.

ALUMNI VS. THE HIGH SCHOOL

BASKETBALL GAME ON FRIDAY NIGHT A BIG ATTRACTION

Brairner high school alumni from the University of Minnesota will play the high school quint at the high school gym Friday night.

The game promises to be fast from the toss-up until the final whistle. The university team has all flashy players and as it is now constituted shows an imposing array of floor talent. It includes Bob Hill, George Engstrom, Gene Erickson, forwards; Henry Bakklia, Irwin Lagerquist, Leslie Crosswell, centers; and Edward Hendrickson and George Sargent, guards.

The high school won from the college boys last year and they are out to do it again this year. The alumni are backing their team and the students are 100 per cent loyal, so a battle supreme between grads and under grads will take place. Which side will make the most noise? Who will win the game? Come and see.

Strangler Lewis to Meet Jap Heavyweight Wrestler

Chicago, Dec. 25.—Strangler Lewis, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, will meet Tara Myaki, claimant to Japan's heavyweight title. The match will be held here on New Year's night and will be a finish, the best two out of three falls. Both men will be allowed to use any style in order to obtain a fall.

Experiment to Determine Danger of Salt for Hogs

An experiment to determine the danger of salt was carried out in Indiana with the conclusion that hogs will not eat too much salt of their own accord. For example, water and feed were withheld for 24 hours from 30 pigs averaging 100 pounds in weight. The pigs were then given two self-feeders, one with salt and the other with corn. As soon as the hogs had eaten their fill water was kept before them at all times through the balance of the experiment. After 90 hours it was found the hogs had eaten but four pounds of salt, or slightly more than two ounces of salt a pig. The same results were found with another lot of pigs. They even tried mixing salt with shorts, but in six days the pigs refused to eat the very salty shorts though they ate self-feed corn and tankage readily. Salt poisoning will likely occur when rain water gets into the salt trough and the pigs drink the brine, but self-fed dry salt is perfectly safe according to experimental evidence.

Satisfactory Mash for Pullets Still Growing

A satisfactory laying mash which can also be used for pullets still growing in the late fall has been suggested by the Ames poultry people. They say that this mash can be fed right through the winter with very good results. Where tankage is not available, it pays to substitute some form of milk or meat scrap for the same results. This is the mixture.

100 lbs. ground oats.
100 lbs. ground corn.
100 lbs. flour middlings.
75 lbs. 50 per cent protein tankage.

With this mash, some green food and of course egg shell should be within reach of the flock at all times. The men who use this mash say that buttermilk has proven to be the cheapest food for the amount of increased production when used with a good mash.

BASKETBALL

The Fort Snelling Basketball quint composed of officers who have competed on university and college fives, was defeated by the team representing the Stillwater companies of the 135th infantry. The final score was 21 to 16.

BASEBALL GAME CHRISTMAS DAY IN NORTH DAKOTA

Bismarck, N. D., Dec. 26.—Baseball and football were among the Christmas day sports in Bismarck yesterday.

Not in the memory of any old timer has Bismarck experienced such a Christmas with the thermometer well above the 40 mark, and the entire absence of snow.

Bismarck and Mandan baseball teams played five innings to a 3-to-2 tie.

Baseball games were played also in many other North Dakota cities yesterday as part of Christmas programs.

Simple Mineral Mixture Is Necessary for Swine

What he called a simple mineral mixture for use in the ration of the hog was described by John M. Evvard of Iowa State college at Ames in his address before an audience of farmers and live stock men on "Swine Feeders' day" at University farm. This mixture, he said, was composed of 20 parts of salt, 40 parts of bone black, and 40 parts of wood ashes. Either rock phosphate, acid phosphate, steamed bonemeal, bone ash or bone charcoal could be used, he said, in making up the second item of the recipe. Also if wood ashes were not available, either high calcium limestone, ground up clam or oyster shells or chalk could be used. Feeding minerals was like taking out a safety and insurance policy for the herd, he said.

Professor Evvard is inclined to believe that the low price period of hogs will continue some time. Production has been so heavy that demand is not equal to the load.

"No one knows what will happen," he said, "but my advice would be to sell 200-pound hogs at once and to fatten the others as soon as possible and let them go also."

Soy Beans Coming Into Favor as Feed for Sheep

Soy beans are coming more and more into favor where they can be grown because they fit so well into rotation, produce a crop the year planted, and produce so abundantly of protein feed. They make an excellent balance to put into the silo with corn, and are also fine to pasture down by hogs or sheep in standing corn.

Soy bean hay is rather difficult to cure because of its succulence and leafage. Sometimes it gets caught in rains and to all appearances ruined. But sheep will eat it when so black it appears to be worthless. Sheep will eat about one-third less corn when fed good soy bean hay.

With Bebe Daniels, Nita Naldi, Ruby de Remer, David Powell, Maurice Costello and Charles Gerrard in the cast and an exceedingly costly investiture, this picture is one of the most effective and elaborate screen society dramas thus far presented to the public.

WALTER CAMP OFFENDS WEST

PUTS NO STARS ON FIRST AND SECOND ALL-AMERICAN ELEVENS

Walter Camp is in bad on the Pacific coast, because of his failure to put any of the far western stars on his first or second All-American elevens. Here is what Royal Brougham, sporting editor of one of the Seattle newspapers has to say:

"It looks as tho Dad Ezra Meeker and his pals who ox-trotted over the plains and discovered the west will have to do it all over again. Walter Camp hasn't found out that the Pacific coast is a part and portion of the U. S. A.

"About this time every year when the football season has been tucked away for its long nap, Walter adjusts his cheating, gives the grid a little the O-O, and crashes into print with his All-American teams. A close and careful check of Walt's first eleven fails to disclose the name of any star who won his spurs galloping up and down a western football field. And on Camp's second team, coast stars are likewise as scarce as mus-tache cups. Hidden away on Mist-Camp's third eleven the names of two western athletes can be found. What a kind hearted old gent Walter is, to give the west a tumble on his third All-American!

Where Has He Been?

Coast football fans are wondering where Camp has been for these many years. Walt, old scout, forgets that the west developed two football coaches—Gil Dobie and Hugo Blezdek—who are rated at the top of their profession in the effete east. Walt, old wagon, forgets that coast teams have given the best elevens from the east some very fine spankings at Pasadena. (For references, see Penn State, Ohio State, etc.)

Not that we think Mister Camp cares, but for his own information Pacific coast fans will tell him that they grow just as good football players out here in the brush as they do back in dear old Harvard or Yale. Trot out any better man than Stew Beam or George Wilson, Babe Horrell or Jimmy Bryan, Ed Kuhn or Elmer Terseu, and a few others we could name, and we'll treat Mister Camp to the ice cream sodas.

Not that anybody is getting insomnia over Mr. Camp's selections, but placing eastern men on his tenth and eleventh teams is only insulting the Pacific coast football fan's intelligence. If Walt doesn't care to give us a tumble on his regular team, for gawsh sakes, leave our stars out altogether and call it an All-Eastern eleven.

Will somebody please send Walter Camp a geography for Christmas and inform him that Washington, Oregon, California and other western states have been admitted into the Union?

It's not the first time that Walter has had unkind things said about him. It's not a cinch to pick All-American teams and an impossible task to please all.

"The Covered Wagon"

"The Covered Wagon," a typically American play of the winning of the West, adapted for the screen from the late Emerson Hough's novel of the same name, plays at the New Park tonight and Thursday, matinee and evening.

It's a story of the "wagon" days on the Oregon Trail, when the great white-topped caravans assembled at

Westport and other points on the Missouri River and set out for the free lands of the Pacific Northwest territory. That these mighty treks were beset with hardship and danger is a matter of history. That the nation, as well as all of the states have awakened to the importance of honoring the memory of the brave men and women who formed the vanguard of our Western civilization, and that stipes are being taken to preserve and protect the many notable relics, mark with monuments the historic spots consecrated with the blood of these sturdy pioneers and otherwise commemorate for future generations the hazardous trail of 1848-9, comes as grateful news to every patriotic citizen of the United States. THE YEAR IN INTERNATIONAL SPORT

United Press Sports Editor

New York, Dec. 26.—Figuring from a broad and general viewpoint, sport made the most noticeable advances all over the world during the four seasons of 1923.

Setting aside momentarily the pace that was set in the United States, one of the outstanding features of the whole year was the arrival of South America as a formidable bidder for honors in international competition.

The Argentine had a half-share in the biggest spectacle and the biggest thrill of the year when her champion, Luis Angel Firpo, came within the proverbial inch of knocking out Jack Dempsey and winning the heavyweight championship of the world.

Hardly had Firpo been added to the list of the year's most prominent losers when South America jumped back with Luis Vincentini, the lightweight champion of Chili, who seemed certain to be headed "some place" in his class.

South America produced a swimmer who succeeded in crossing the English channel and a polo team that ranked with the best in the world.

Sufficient progress was made by the South Americans in the development of sports to indicate that at some time, not very distant, the world of sport will be dominated by North and South America.

France stepped back almost entirely out of the picture and had to be content with only the momentary glory of having a world's featherweight champion in Eugene Criqui, who lost the title in his next fight.

France, it would seem, must be satisfied in the possession of Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, world's woman tennis champion, and from all indications her reign is seriously threatened by the dashing American miss—Helen Wills.

England did not do enough to justify a statement that she had come back after three years of the most disheartening experiences, but the Britishers found some joy in that they were able to win back their open golf championship and the Diamond Sculls, although the rowing classic came back home only because Walter Hoover, the American, broke an oar in the final race.

The British polo team was defeated by the American team of Army officers; the Walker cup team was again defeated by the American team; the woman's tennis team lost the first matches for the Wightman international cup; the Wimbledon championship again stayed away from England and Billy Johnston, the California star, won the title; and the British Davis Cup team didn't get any place in the international tennis matches.

Even though it caused a laugh elsewhere, Italy found some joy in the year when the International Boxing Federation had a trick meeting and announced that Erminio Spalla, an Italian, was the European heavyweight champion.

Holland raised a row about it, but France and England merely sighed. France looked at Carpenter and Nilles, and England cast a horrified glance at Joe Beckett, and admitted that most anyone could be the champion.

Japan did not figure with the usual prominence in the Davis Cup matches because her best players could not arrange their business affairs so that they would be able to compete.

The terrible earthquake catastrophe, no doubt, will prove such a staggering blow to Japanese athletes that it will be years before the nation will be able to get back into its former place.

Finland jumped into prominence several times with the aid of that great runner, Paavo Nurmi, who threatens to be a big point winner at the Olympic games next summer in Paris.

Sweden, also, while not participating much in international competition, came along greatly in track and field athletics and, beyond doubt, will be a most formidable factor in the Olympics.

California repeated as the intercollegiate track and field champions last spring in Philadelphia. The Californians won the title again with a team constituted almost entirely of field stars.

Another western university came into a national championship when the fine Washington crew won the intercollegiate rowing championship at Poughkeepsie.

Washington figured prominently also in the victory of Yale in the annual Harvard-Yale race at New London, as the Yale crew was developed by Ed Leader, former Washington coach.

Is Green No More

"My experience with your medicine has been wonderful. My stomach and liver trouble of five years' standing took a new turn two years ago when I took on an olive green complexion. I spent 1,200 with doctors and specialists only to prove that I was still as green as ever. A friend advised me to take Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, and I am green no more. My stomach and liver trouble has all disappeared." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and leading druggists in every town.—Adv't.

RED PEPPERS STOP BACKACHE LUMBAGO

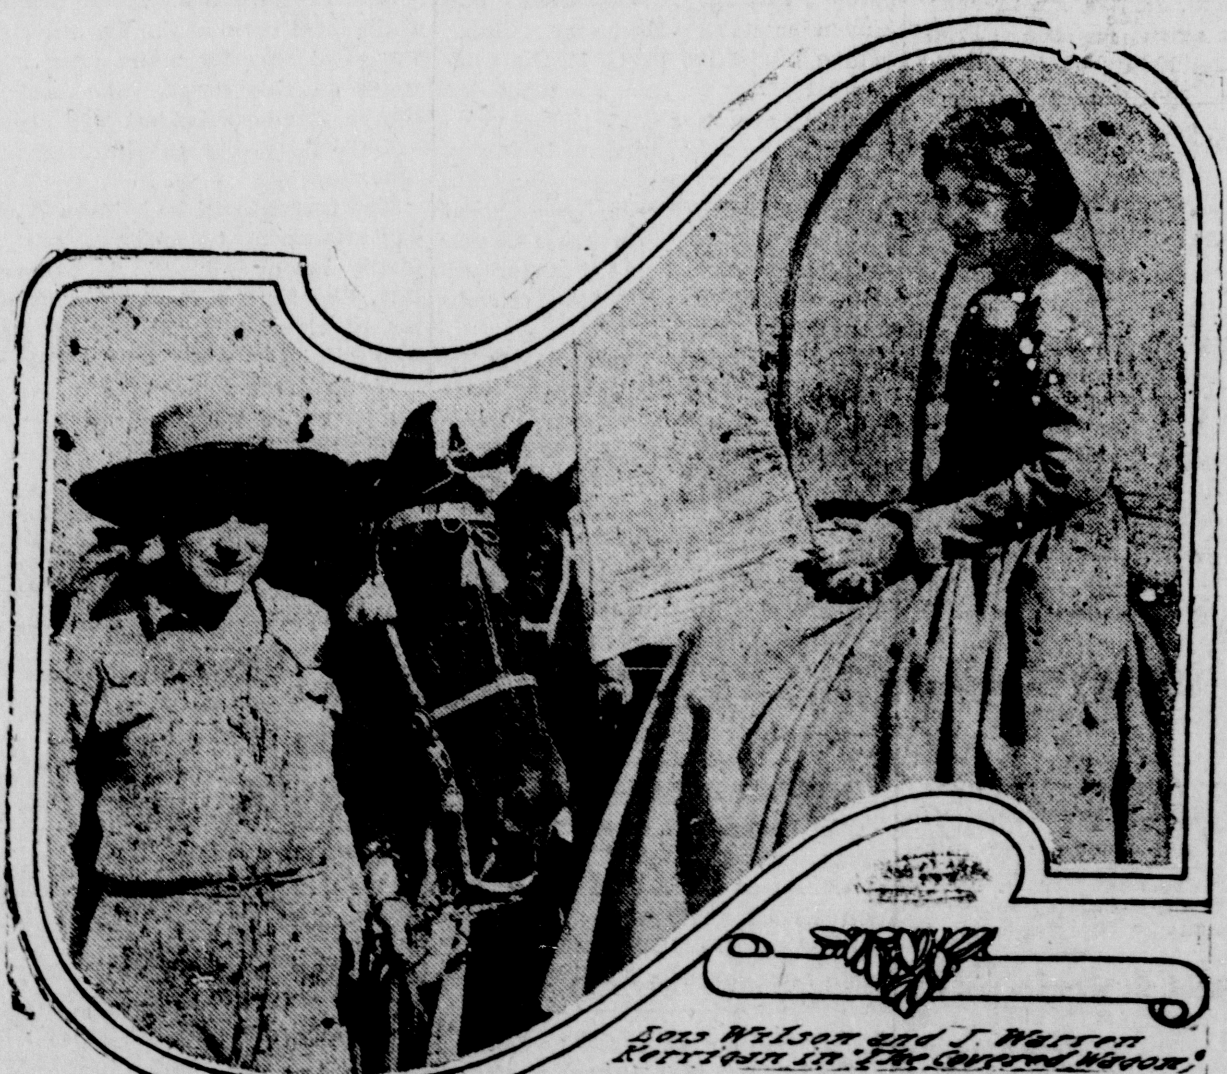

The heat of red peppers takes the "ouch" from a sore, lame back. It can't hurt you, and it certainly ends the torture at once.

When you are suffering so you can hardly get around, just try Red Pepper Rub, and you will have the quickest relief known. Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers.

Just as soon as you apply Red Pepper Rub you will feel the tingling heat. In three minutes it warms the sore spot through and through. Pain and soreness are gone.

Ask any druggist for a jar of Red Pepper Rub. Be sure to get the genuine, with the name Rowles on each package.—Adv't.

"The Covered Wagon"

"The Covered Wagon," a typically American play of the winning of the West, adapted for the screen from the late Emerson Hough's novel of the same name, plays at the New Park tonight and Thursday, matinee and evening.

It's a story of the "wagon" days on the Oregon Trail, when the great white-topped caravans assembled at

Westport and other points on the Missouri River and set out for the free lands of the Pacific Northwest territory. That these mighty treks were beset with hardship and danger is a matter of history. That the nation, as well as all of the states have awakened to the importance of honoring the memory of the brave men and women who formed the vanguard of our Western civilization, and that steps are being taken to preserve and protect the many notable relics, mark with monuments the historic spots consecrated with the blood of these sturdy pioneers and otherwise commemorate for future generations the hazardous trail of 1848-9, comes as grateful news to every patriotic citizen of the United States. An added feature will be the symphony orchestra of fifteen pieces.
